Caring for Horses in Extreme Heat

Posted by Erica Larson | Jun 24, 2017 | Article, Heat Stress, Summer Care, Veterinary Practice, Water & Electrolytes

With summer's sunny days can come extreme heat. Such situations can cause worry for owners as they struggle to help their horses adjust, stay healthy, and remain comfortable. But with a well-thought-out management plan, horses can stay cool and comfy in the midst of summer.

To help get you started on the right track, TheHorse.com caught up with Nancy Loving, DVM, an equine practitioner in Boulder, Colorado, to find out what the most important things to consider are when caring for horses in extreme heat.

When dealing with hot temperatures, Loving said the most important thing an owner can do is provide his or her horse with plenty of fresh water.

"Clean water should always be available; an average horse needs five to seven gallons of water per day in cool weather, while in hot weather, requirements for maintenance and to compensate for losses in sweat may prompt intake of 20 gallons or more per day," she explained. "Horses in a herd should have access to a couple of water tanks spaced a distance apart so dominant horses don't prevent a thirsty, more timid horse from drinking.

Adding an electrolyte supplement to your horse's diet could help keep him drinking and restore the electrolyte balances disrupted by sweating, and horses should have access to a salt block or receive a daily salt supplement (no more than a tablespoon per day) to allow them to meet their dietary sodium chloride requirements.

Additionally, she added that for a horse that doesn't drink well, offering a watery gruel of a supplement (such as a complete feed pellets) rather than feeding them dry can help increase the horse's water intake.

Insects are another concern that accompany increasing temperatures, Loving said.

"Hot weather brings insects so don't forget to use fly sheets, insect repellent, and during active insect times of day, it can help to bring your horse into the barn and use fans to create air flow that foils the ability of flying insects to hover around your horse," she added, as many biting flies are poor fliers.

This year we have decided to run a scholarship program for school age youth!

Eligibility Requirements:

- Ω Show 4 of the 8 PCHA Cutting Shows
- Ω Complete 250 word essay explaining what cutting means to them
- Ω Complete a short interview at either the September or October show
- Ω Be helpful and show good sportsmanship at the shows
- Ω Have good grades

Due Dates:

- ⇒ Must be Signed up by the June show in order to participate
- ⇒ Essay must be submitted by the September Show
- ⇒ Interview must be completed at either the September or October show
- ⇒ The Scholarship will be awarded at the 2023 Banquet

* PCHA MEMBERS: Want to help? We are also still looking for donations towards this fund, so that we will be able to award more than 1 sponsorship a year! **

We are Currently at $800, thanks to Joanne Thayer, JG Equines, and Sandra Brown! **

Please contact Jessie with any questions and to sign up! 484-769-6142

Cutting Horses: How to Get Started

This excerpt covers expectations and riding. For the full article, visit <https://www.aqha.com/-/purchasing-your-first-cutting-horse>

You Own Your Own Cutting Horse – Now What?

Tip 1: Be realistic. Beginners make a lot of mistakes learning how to ride. That's just the way it is and there's no shame in it. That first horse is the one that is going to consequently be at the blunt end of those mistakes.

Tip 2: Remember, your beginner horse is a saint. Sometimes you can find a horse that is so honest and, no matter how many mistakes a beginner rider makes, that horse is confident in his job, he doesn't get to fudging or cheating. However, most horses will.

Tip 3: Don't go it alone – seek guidance. A trainer will tell you what to do on a horse that isn't taking you to the right spot. That's why a beginner needs to get the right supervision. The sooner a beginning rider learns the real fundamentals of cutting, the sooner that individual will be able to help his own horse do a better job of showing.

Riding a Cutting Horse

Keep these body position tips in mind when riding a cutting horse:

Stay centered in the saddle. One hand goes on the reins, the other stays on the saddle horn. Push off the saddle horn, don't pull yourself forward. Pushing keeps you locked down in the saddle.

1. Keep your toes out and your legs under you. You don't want your feet to get out in front. If they're under you, you can stay balanced.
2. Stop your horse with your seat. Put your heels down, remove leg pressure and rock your hips back a little bit. Barely pick up your rein hand and push straight down on your hand that's on top of the horn. That pressure lets your hips rock back a little bit.
3. Round your lower back. Slump a little bit, like Mom said never to do.
4. Remember to breathe.

Cutting Horses: How to Get Started

When it comes to working a flag – to simulate a cow – or actual cow work, remember this advice:

1. The horse is responsible for the stop and turn. You, the rider, are responsible to hit the gas pedal and ride the horse to the stop.
2. Ride and stop straight. Ride your horse straight across the pen. Don't lean with your upper body, because that encourages your horse to do the same.
3. Stop the cow. To stop a cow, your horse's head has to get ahead of the cow's head. If you get behind, the cow's going to dart around you and return to the herd.
4. Use your legs through the turn – or don't. Some horses respond well if you encourage them through the turn with the outside leg. Others work best if you hurry them after they complete the turn. Work with your trainer to find the correct style.
5. Wait on the cow and your horse. When your horse stops, you sit and wait. But when that horse makes his first move, that's the time to start riding.
6. Ride hard to the stop. You may have to use both legs to get your horse across the pen to stop the cow.

As you put it all together with a herd of cattle, a cutting run will look like:

1. Walk quietly up to and through the herd.
2. Peel off a group of cattle that would fan out in front of you. At a show, you'll have two helpers in the corner, talking to you and offering advice on the cattle.
3. Get one cow separated.
4. Put your rein hand down all the way on the saddle blanket, if you need to. Your other hand goes on the saddle horn, where you push yourself deep into the saddle.
5. Use your legs to ride to the stops.
6. Round your lower back to absorb the stop.
7. Let the cow pull the horse through the turn.
8. Ride hard to your next stop.
9. Listen to your herd help for when to quit the cow. To avoid penalties, you need to quit when the cow is disengaged and turning away from you, or when the cow has stopped and is standing still. If you quit the cow when it's still moving and turning into you, you will incur a hot-quit penalty.
10. Pick up your rein hand to pull the horse up to quit a cow, then cut another cow.

Aim to work three cows in your 2-1/2-minute cutting run.

We Need Your Help

To all our PCHA members:

Our PCHA cuttings cost quite a bit of money to produce and as you know inflation is being seen everywhere. As a club, we would like to continue holding quality shows as well as offer added money classes, but WE NEED everyone's help..

As you know, we offer $500 added money classes each day in the Open & Non-Pro, $300 added in the 25K NH, 5K NH and the 5K NH NP as well as $200 added in the 50K Amateur and 25K NH NP.

However, we will not be able to continue doing so if we don't receive your help finding generous sponsors. The future of our PCHA club depends upon it.

Most recently, we had a group of members who graciously sponsored year end awards allowing us to extend recognition to Runner-up winners as well as Champion and Reserve Champion. We are extremely grateful to everyone who has sponsored us in the past, and we would love to continue growing our PCHA community!

We need all of our members to do their part by asking their farriers, vets, suppliers, friends, local businesses, etc for a sponsorship. It can be any amount as it all helps to cover expenses to hold our cuttings.

You can help PCHA grow our sponsor network by...

- Reaching out to businesses you think would benefit from having their name in front of avid cutters, and horsemen.
- Sponsoring a class show by show or for the entire year.
- Grabbing a few fellow members to jointly sponsor a class together.
- Sponsoring a class in honor of the memory of someone who inspired you – or inspired some of our cutters throughout PCHA.

We offer a variety of sponsorship packages providing visibility and access to our PCHA events and members. This can include banners hung up at shows, social media shout outs (we have over 1.95k followers on Facebook alone), class naming rights, show announcements, or logo displays on the website and in our monthly newsletters.

For more information, please see the Sponsorship deck on our website, which outlines the various Corporate and Individual sponsorship levels as well as a sponsorship form that can be filled out and returned to Treasurer, Bill Stein.

Please refer to this sponsorship deck when asking for any type of donation.

Thank you all for your continued support of this sport we love!

We CANNOT do it without you!

Michelle Sterner McNutt, PCHA Director

-on behalf of Dave Phillips, PCHA President & the Pennsylvania Cutting Horse Association Board of Directors
