NATIONAL CUTTING HORSE ASSOCIATION 2021 Changes to the NCHA Rule Book

Each year the NCHA updates the Rule Book which governs our cutting shows. The following important changes have been made to the Rule Book's content this year, but this list is not comprehensive .

- $\Omega$  The NCHA show entry fee is \$3 per entry; results fee is 8%; circuit producer fee is \$100. Standing Rule 7, Rule Book Page 20
- Ω At Limited Aged Events using a multiple level class structure, horse cannot run twice in a single set. Standing Rule 11, Rule Book page 29
- Ω Circuit Program, For the most up to date policy and rules surrounding the National Circuit Program please visit https://www.nchacutting.com/events/ncha-circuit-program/circuit-program Show Management Handbook, Rule Book p. 52.
- Ω Age 7 Horses/Limited Age Events: The NCHA approves limited age events other than the limited age events the NCHA sponsors. These shows must be for horses between the age of 3 and 6 years of age, allowing for a 7-year-old option FOR THE 2021 POINT YEAR ONLY and at the discretion of each event producer. An application for approval, together with all rules for the event, must be submitted to the NCHA by June 1st of the preceding year for shows that will be held between January 1 and May 31, and by January 1 of a given year for shows that will be held between June 1 and December 31 of that year. Show Management Handbook, Rule Book page 54.
- Ω The horse may also be disqualified from all classes in which it participated in at the show for any viola- tion of the Medication Rules and Guidelines. If disqualified, all awards and monies must be returned. Standing Rule 35A, Rule Book page 77.
- Ω Prohibited Medications: Disciplinary actions for persons utilizing prohibited medications have rule has been clarified to apply to "any responsible person and defined by these rules." Penalties range from a first time offender receiving "forfeiture of any winnings from the show, a fine in the range of $2,500 $5,000, loss of any titles and awards won at the show" to third-time offender receiving "forfeiture of any winnings from the show, a fine in the range of $10,000 $15,000, loss of any titles and awards won at the show and a membership suspension of at least two (2) years." Standing Rule 35A, Rule Book page 79.
- Ω Circuit Standings: First-place Circuit leaders will be listed in the Cutting Horse Chatter magazine and receive a NCHA Trophy upon request to the NCHA Show Department. Places 2-5 will receive a certificate. A horse owner and rider will be allowed to designate a Circuit, other than where they live, in writing, in which they are to compete in a given year for circuit standings. If a circuit has not been designated, the primary residence will be determined on where the owner of the horse had filed his/her income taxes. If you purchase a horse during the year after you have filed your Circuit designation listing your horses, you must notify NCHA to designate the purchased horse." Horse And Rider Awards, Rule Book page 104.
- Ω 21B Judge: b. Any person seeking approval as an NCHA judge shall have been a member of the Association continuously for a minimum of five (5) years, including youth or family membership, and shall have no record of suspension, probation, or reprimand by the NCHA for the three (3) year period immediately preceding the application. Applicant must have been an active competitor during the past three (3) years and must have won a lifetime minimum of $10,000 to become a 1A, or $50,000 to become a 2A judge in approved NCHA cutting competitions. Standing Rule 21, Rule Book page 109
- Ω 21D Judge: Judges that have judged an NCHA Monitored event with $100,000 added or an NCHA Produced event within the current or past year will be considered re-certified with the Director of Judges' approval. Therefore, these specific judges will only need to provide the $150.00 fee to NCHA to remain an active judge. New applicants applying to be an NCHA judge will test in the alternate year of the Re-certification Test for a clinic or 6th box, depending on their lifetime earnings. Fee is $150.00. Standing Rule 21, Rule Book page 110
- Ω 26 Judges Recertification: All judges must complete the NCHA Judges Recertification Test every other year to retain their approval as a judge. Any judge failing to test or make passing scores on all phases of the NCHA testing procedures will be deleted from the Association's Approved Judges List. Any judge so deleted may be reinstated only by completing and passing the testing procedures at a future NCHA applicant clinic. Standing Rule 26, Rule Book page 112
- Ω Judging Rule 5: c. The judge shall stop any work because of 1. the contestant working the horse in an unprofessional manner,
   2. disturbance of the cattle by the contestant, or 3. excessive training of the horse by the contestant. Any contestant failing to stop immediately after the firstwhistle will be whistled out again. A contestant with a "double whistle" violation resulting from the contestant working the horse in an unprofessional manner or disturbance of the cattle will be fined $500.00. (more guidance given) Judging Rule 5, Rule Book pages 123-124
- Ω 50,000 Amateur Age 60-69 & over 70 Hall of Fame members may not roll back to the $50,000 Amateur class in weekend competition. NP/Amateur Rules, Rule Book pages 169-170
- $\Omega$  Unlimited Amateur limit is now \$250,000. NP/Amateur Rules, Rule Book page 171

10 Red Flags

Katrin Silva: 10 Red Flags

If you want to become a better rider, you will need help. Books, videos, and podcasts provide useful information, but they're no substitute for working with a trainer on a regular basis. Progress is difficult without the one-on-one guidance and feedback an experienced professional can provide.

After 30 years of working with horses full-time, I still take lessons as often as I can. You should, too, but not every trainer is right for everyone. And not all great riders are good teachers, or good at working with horses that are different from what they're used to.

To make things more complicated, professional horse trainers are humans, with different personalities and teaching styles. Finding the right match may require some trial and error, but there are a few phrases that I consider red flags. When you hear your trainer say one of these, take a step back. Ask for clarification. Ask her to explain. If she can't, or if the explanation falls short of what you can accept, be prepared to ask yourself whether you want to work or to keep working with this person.

- ⇒ "Crank that noseband tighter!" OR: "Use a twisted-wire snaffle!" OR "Let's put him in draw reins." These are shortcuts ways to make a horse's frame or rein contact look correct from the outside. Cranking a horse's mouth shut and forcing him into a round frame via draw reins is the equivalent of putting duct tape over your car's "check engine" light. It takes care of the irritating flash of red on your dashboard, but it won't fix the underlying problem. If your horse is struggling with accepting contact, trying a different bit can help, but changing to a more severe bit because he doesn't "respect" the milder version only teaches him that bits cause pain.
- ⇒ "You need a different horse." OR: "You would do so much better on this nice horse I happen to have for sale!" I've said this a few times over the last 30 years, for legitimate reasons, like concern for an inexperienced rider's safety, or when a horse's athletic abilities are no match for his rider's goals. If you want to compete in 100-mile endurance rides, a draft horse won't get you there, and it would not be fair to ask him. On the other hand, if you feel comfortable on your horse and have goals compatible with what he can do, why sell him? With enough time and effort, unlikely horse-rider pairs can develop into solid, harmonious partnerships. I stay away from buying and selling horses, mainly because I am no good at it, but also because it can create a financial conflict of interest, i.e. an incentive for me to discourage an owner to keep the horse she has now. I'd much rather help build a good horse-rider relationship than help break it up. Ask yourself whether your trainer is recommending a change of horses for a valid reason, or for a sketchy one, like a sales commission.
- "You are not a good enough rider for this horse." Often, what follows is a variation of "Your talented horse would be so much better off with me, the trainer, riding him and showing him!" If your horse experience is limited, and if your horse is green or has behavioral issues that make him unsafe for you to ride, it may be true.. But if your horse is a pleasure to ride, he can, with your trainer's help, teach you to become a better rider. Don't buy into the argument that if you keep riding your talented horse he won't reach his full potential as a show horse and will not be a happy horse. I love helping horses reach their potential, but the reality is horses don't care about whether or not they win ribbons, as long as they are ridden in a way that's comfortable and makes sense to them.

THIS THIS IS NOT A PHASE. THIS IS NOT A GAME, ALHOBBY OR A RECITAL. THIS IS POWER. THIS IS CONTROL. THIS IS TEAMWORK. THIS IS SOMETHING WE LOVE TO DO. THIS IS SOMETHING WE LIVE TO DO.  $\Rightarrow$  "You have no idea how to ride." OR" You will never be any good." Making students feel terrible about their riding is part of a common teaching strategy which comes from military boot camp training. Where I grew up, in Germany, riding schools used to be part of the cavalry, so the military style of teaching lingered for a long time. Some instructors still practice a version of "tear them down before you build them up." Others tear students down because it makes them feel better. But students can't learn if they're feeling terrible. A student without confidence can't learn. Of course, the other extreme – teachers who never criticize their students because they don't want to make them feel bad – is wrong, too. There is a middle ground where learning happens: a positive, constructive teaching style.

- "Your horse is stubborn/naughty/a piece of sh#t/bad horse." Translation: the trainer is frustrated and does not know how to help this horse, or help this rider get along with her horse. Abusive language about horses often leads to physical abuse of horses. I also don't like to hear anyone talk about horses in generalizing terms. like: "all mares are bitchy/Arabians are crazy." We can describe behavior in a way that encourages solutions, instead of blaming the horse.
- ⇒ "Because I'm the trainer, that's why." Stay away from trainers who don't want to explain why they use the equipment they use, or the methods they use, or why they want you to change your position a certain way, or why they want your horse to practice certain exercises. I encourage my students to ask a lot of questions that start with "Why?"
- "There's no reason to be scared/apprehensive/doubtful/discouraged. Just do what I say!" Riding is an emotional endeavor for most of us. Fear and anxiety can be real obstacles. Dismissing these emotions is counterproductive and disrespectful. Teaching is a two-way conversation. If a student has emotional issues that keep her from progressing, it's part of her job to let me know about them. It's my job to help her address them. If these issues go beyond what I can deal with, I may suggest the help of a good sport psychologist.
- ⇒ "My colleague X is a bad trainer/has no idea what she is doing." OR: "My other student X is a terrible rider." A trainer who talks badly about other riders or trainers will say bad things about you behind your back. You can bet on it. Some students feel like they belong to the trainer's inner circle now. But we've grown up since middle school. Cliques are not cool.
- ⇒ "Use your outside rein.. USE YOUR OUTSIDE REIN! USE YOUR OUTSIDE REIN!!!!" Yelling is never good teaching. It does not improve our riding. Yelling is also disrespectful to the horses. They have sensitive ears. I really like to keep the tone at my barn civil and pleasant, between people as much as between horses and people. I think the horses like it better, even if they can't understand the words.
- "Your horse needs a new saddle/ new supplement/new gadget-thingy... which I happen to sell and can give you a good deal on. If you don't, you are an irresponsible, uncaring owner." This is another instance where selling something may create a conflict of interest. Yes, the saddle should fit, but there are many good options to improve saddle fit, from using a half-pad with shims to reflocking or adjusting the tree to purchasing a used saddle from a friend. Don't let a trainer, or a saddle manufacturer's customer service rep recommended by your trainer, tell you otherwise. You can be a responsible horse owner and not spend $5,000 on a new dressage saddle. The same goes for feed and supplements, for body work, therapeutic boots, etc.

This list begs the question: Why do trainers say such things?

Yes, a few trainers have their own interests in mind, not yours or your horse's.

Yes, there are a few trainers who put others down to feel good about themselves. Some trainers are great riders, but not good teachers.

Most trainers are good people who choose this work because they love what they do. They might also find themselves immersed in an equestrian culture with firmly entrenched traditions, teaching styles, and business practices. They feel they need to sink or swim.

But there is another way. We can change. Let's start with asking questions that start with "Why?"
